FERDINANDO ALBERTAZZI: CRIME FICTION AND DETECTIVE STORIES FOR CHILDREN

THE ATM JOB

Andrea, Federica and Luca are three teenage computer geeks, who decide to rob an ATM to pay for a trip around the world. The plan is to use their technological know how, their ability to crack numeric codes and the fact that Monica's father is the bank manager to secretly withdraw money from an ATM. Little do they know that Andrea's grandfather and his friends are working toward the same goal: in spite of their unaware cooperation, the two "clans" hit the target at the same time and meet under the most unpredictable circumstances.

TOMBSTONE FACE

Ettore Bogliasco is an old man with an apparently ordinary life, who struggles to make both ends meet and sometimes poses in pictures for the tombstones of unknown deceased people. All of a sudden, two dangerous criminal gangs are after him: one has recognized the face of a traitor on a tombstone and seeks revenge, while the other is looking for the notorious Ettore Bogliasco, a con artist who scammed his accomplices and ran away with the money. Ettore is in big trouble, but his luck turns around when three fearless kids, Nicola, Claudia and Ilaria, aka the Serendipity trio, team up to help him. The kids will have to hack into the police database and face unexpected dangers to save their older friend.

THE STOWAWAY

The body of Roberta, a beautiful, talented and popular girl, is found hanging from the ceiling in her high school classroom. During his investigation, detective Marchetti has to find an answer to many questions: was it a tragic accident, suicide or murder? Were the victim's best friends, Greta, Diego and Stefano involved in the crime?

What is The Fraud, a mysterious and extreme role-playing game the victim and her friends were participating in? Everyone is a suspect and the secrets that are unveiled at the end will leave a mark in everyone's life.
